

North Battleford District Exhibit

At the International Congress

THE VIEWS on the outer pages of this leaflet furnish the best possible proof—if such were needed—of the productiveness of the soil of the North Battleford district and its suitability for growing to perfection grains, forage crops, field roots, vegetables and garden produce of all kinds.

¶ In competition with 23 other District Exhibits from various parts of the Continent, the North Battleford exhibit at the 21st International Irrigation Congress, held at Calgary on October 5th to 9th, 1914, TIED FOR FIRST PLACE and was awarded second prize only by the flip of a coin.

¶ The District Exhibits included products of irrigated or non-irrigated soil, as well as articles produced or manufactured in the districts represented, and to persons who are not familiar with conditions in this part of Saskatchewan, the perfection of the produce from this district, together with the manufactured articles from the city, came as a revelation.

¶ There is NO irrigation in the North Battleford district, nor within many miles of it, the rainfall—with the right cultivation—being ample.

¶ Mr. W. R. Mair, of North Battleford, also secured FIRST PRIZE at the same International Congress for field peas. These peas were grown on Mr. Mair's farm near Glenrose post office, about 15 miles north of the city, and, considering the nature of the Congress, may rightly be termed the Champion Peas of America.

*****

¶ The farmer who contemplates taking up land in Western Canada would do well to consider the merits of the North Battleford district. It should be remembered that a glowing account can be written of any district, but the practical man, desiring a new and better location, will look for RESULTS and PROBABILITIES. For such a man the North Battleford district offers magnificent opportunities. The soil, the climate, the market and transportation facilities, the price of farm land—all are right.

*****

¶ For particulars, write to

COMMISSIONER, Board of Trade,
North Battleford, Saskatchewan,
Western Canada.

The Evidence